der 31. OKTOBER —TAG VOR ALLERHEILIGEN / HALLOWEEN

„Streich oder Süßigkeit!“ / „Trick or Treat!“
„süß oder saueres“

On the day of Halloween, the resort offers free entry to children up to age 11 who arrive dressed in a Halloween costume. Though kids won't be the only ones dressed for the party, as guests will be greeted by park dragon Olli, who will also be in his Halloween costume for the celebrations.

The resort will offer a special Halloween atmosphere, with ghosts on the loose around the park. Guests are invited to knock on the door of the Trick or Treat House, or to walk through the Spooky Trail, if they are brave enough.

Ghastly creatures are waiting for you in the park, as well as the Grusical in the LEGO Arena, a spooky show exclusive to LEGO Deutschland. This event promises plenty of shudders and laughs for the whole family!

Stuttgart

The gardens of Ludwigsburg Castle is home to a unique, hidden treasure: the world's largest pumpkin exhibition.

It may sound like a niche-market, but even those who aren't particularly enthusiastic about pumpkins can enjoy the towering sculptures made from 450,000 pumpkins of 6000 varieties. Artists bring to life thousands of pumpkins, with puss in boots, Medusa and a unicorn among many others transforming the park into a fairytale pumpkin kingdom.

During Halloween, we tend to underestimate what's inside a pumpkin for the sake of carving its skin. However, this event isn't short of plenty of pumpkin-based dishes, such as pumpkin soup, pumpkin spaghetti, pumpkin strudel, pumpkin lasagna, pumpkin tart and pumpkin bread. Who knew the classic Halloween fruit could be so versatile?

Once the event has converted you to a year-round pumpkin fanatic, you can take home a selection of pumpkin jam, pumpkin pesto, pumpkin seeds, pumpkin seed oil, and pumpkin noodles from the gift shop.
