6 REASONS GERMANY'S SUMMER IS BEST FOR THRILL-SEEKERS

Wine tasting in Rhineland Palatinate

But then maybe all that exertion isn't your thing at all. No need to worry, there are plenty of opportunities for indulging yourself in the outdoors this summer too.

Why not try a wine tasting course in Germany's version of Burgundy, Rhineland-Palatinate?

The south-eastern state is home to the largest Riesling plantations in the world, hosts the world's largest wine festival – the Wurstmarkt at Bad Dürkheim – and, not that it's bragging, has the largest wine cask in the world too.
