

WAS ESSEN DIE DEUTSCHEN? / WHAT DO THE GERMANS EAT?10 DELICIOUS FOODS YOU HAVE TO TRY WHILE LIVING IN GERMANY*4. Kartoffelpuffer mit Apfelmus

This surprisingly tasty dish perfectly encapsulates the non-frills Teutonic approach to cooking. It consists of nothing other than grated potato pancakes and apple sauce. The potatoes are bound together into little patties using egg, flour and seasoning and then fried. Before serving, a few slops from the jar of apple sauce (which every German household has in the fridge) are thrown on top - and voila.

This treat is particularly associated with the Harz region in central Germany.
