

WAS ESSEN DIE DEUTSCHEN?

GERMANY'S 8 WURST SAUSAGE SAYINGS

2) 'Schwein haben': Germans love their pork and honour their pigs. The Germans revere the pig as a symbol of good luck in this expression. Literally translated "as to have a pig", it means to be lucky in a bad situation. If someone tells you "Du hast Schwein gehabt" it means you were lucky and survived by the skin of your teeth.

4) 'Es ist mir alles Wurst': A confusing paradox to the previous saying, as this one means the complete opposite. The literal translation, "it's all sausage to me," means that the speaker really doesn't care - it's all the same to me.