Debbie Turner (Marta von Trapp)

Marta Von Trapp was quite girly and likes the color pink as she tells Maria. During filming, Debbie Turner had many loose teeth and when they fell out, they were replaced with false teeth- for continuity's sake. Similar to her oldest sibling, Liesl, after Sound of Music (<https://fave.co/3luFzty>), she stepped away from the limelight. She still takes part in Sound of Music reunions, but since 1985, has been living in Minnesota with her four daughters, husband, and presumably no governess.

The Sound of Music was Turner's last role on screen as she left the glare of the industry to instead focus on her education. Nice way to move from being a cast member to 'normal life' – well done!
